SHELTON'S AUDIO-VISUAL DEPARTMENT HAS RECEIVED TWO NEW PIECES OF EQUIPMENT TO ASSIST IN CLASSROOM PRESENTATIONS PORTABLE VIDEO/DATA PROJECTOR (Sharop LCD Projectors XG-E650U)

This projector allows projection of large screen, full color computer and video images. A multi-scan RGB Input accepts signals from VGA, EGA, CGA and MACII compatible computers. Besides the standard front projection mode, the images can be reversed for rear projection. Screen projection size adjusts from 30 to 150 inches. A built-in amplifier and speaker eliminates the need for external audio components.

It works with standard VCRs and Document Readers (i.e. Elmo 3800/AF500).

LCD PANEL (Sharp Color Computer/VideoProjection Panel) makes it possible to display computer or video images onto a large screen using an overhead projector (Dukane 28A4000) to illuminate and project the images. The PC card option provides an image storage function, making presentation possible without a PC connected.

Connecting the mouse cable allows control of a personal computer from the remote control. An external monitor connector allows an analog computer monitor to be connected for simultaneous display with the projection panel. A rear projection function allows the image to be reversed. The unit supports audio with a built-in speaker and audio input/output connectors.

The remote has learning capabilities, allowing five functions to be memorized for control of a VCR, Laserdisc. This piece of equipment is not recommended for use with a Document Reader (i.e. Elmo)AF500.

Please sign up for equipment training. Schedule your training and classroom presentations 24 hours in advance. Contact Sully Cochrane or Jean Epps on the Skyland Campus.

SHELTON NOMINATES TWO STUDENTS FOR USA TODAY AWARD

Two students from Shelton State have been selected by the college to represent the institution in national competition sponsored by USA TODAY. Pamela Rae Singleton and Margueritte Aultman will represent the college in national competition held annually by USA TODAY to select members of the academic teams representing America's two year colleges.

Each year USA TODAY selects a first, second, and third teams composed of 20 students each. The pictures of students selected for the first team are featured in USA TODAY. Last year Shelton student Jackie Fazelli was named to the second team.

Singleton is formerly a native of Greensboro, Alabama. She returned to Greensboro two years ago with her daughter after living in Mobile for 20 years. She is currently enrolled in Shelton's ADN program and is employed as a work-study student at the college.

Aultman is also a native of Greensboro and is a graduate of Shelton's LPN program. She is currently enrolled in the college's ADN program and is employed by Hale County Hospital. She is married to John Aultman and they have three children.

The winner of this year's competition will be notified in April 1996 by USA TODAY.

SHELTON ADMINISTRATOR SELECTED OLYMPIC VOLUNTEER

When Bruce Bizzoco formed the Shelton Fencing club, the Corsairs, back in 1980, he never dreamed that 15 years later he would be an official volunteer for the 1996

Olympics fencing competition. Bizzoco, now associate dean of academic services, was notified recently that he had been chosen by the Fencing Competition Management at the Atlanta Committee for the Olympic Games to be an official Olympic Volunteer.

As a volunteer, Bizzoco must be in Atlanta by July 5. A full dress rehearsal is scheduled for July 13 when the entire fencing staff must be fully functional, according to Bizzoco. The Opening Ceremonies for the Games will be July 19 and the actual fencing competition will be July 20-25.

According to Bizzoco, the National Organization of United States Fencing Association put out an address a year ago where people could apply to be volunteers with the Olympics. He sent the information in and received a packet from the association. After completing the information, Bizzoco got a note back saying over one million people had applied to be volunteers. He was also disappointed to learn there were no tickets available to the Olympic fencing competition.

About a month ago, Bizzoco received another packet. This one was the same as before except it was more specific. Bizzoco completed the packet, and again, sent it to Atlanta. This time he received a call from Christine Collins who is in charge of Olympic fencing volunteers.

"She asked me if I had a place to stay in Atlanta and I said I did," Bizzoco said. "She also asked what I wanted to do? I said I would serve almost anywhere, but since I was in education and had past media public relations experience, I would like to work in one of those areas if possible. Ms. Collins told me at this point they would do a background check on me and order me a uniform. Then I received the official letter the other day inviting me to be a volunteer."

Bizzoco has a great deal of experience coaching fencing through the years. Shelton State is still the only two-year college in the state offering a fencing program. Also, during the 1980s, Bizzoco attended for four summers and graduated from the Coaches College for Olympic Training held in Colorado Springs, Colorado.
